CIVILIAN ACTIVITIES MUST HAVE SINGLE-HEADED AND RESPONSIBLE ADMINISTRATORS ON HOME FRONT

This is The First Principle in Such Organization, States Herbert Hoover in Considering "Home Fronts and Global Strategy"

By Herbert Hoover
Article V.
(Written for I. N. S.)

(Following is the fifth of a series of six articles written by former President Herbert Hoover, dealing with the situation on the Axis and United Nations' home fronts as they appear today, as they loom in the future, and as they affect global strategy.)

The first principle in organization of the home front distilled by all nations from the last war is that civilian activities must be directed by single-headed responsible administrators. The second principle is that all functions and authority in respect to a particular activity must be concentrated into the hands of one administrator. We can no more administer civilian activities in war with committees, boards or commissions than we can direct a battle with a committee. And we can no more have divided authority over one function than we can have independent generals in command of a battle.

Yet it was 19 months after we started large preparedness, before munitions was given a single head; it was over two years before oil, food, rubber and manpower were given single responsible administrators. There are still important executive functions under committee control. And of the administrators appointed, none of them have full control in their field.

The third principle is that the head administrators of such major groups should comprise a war council sitting directly with the President. Here alone the general economic and civilian policies should be determined, the conflicts and overlaps planned out with the President present as the final umpire. There was a war council or a war cabinet in every principal nation in the last war. There is one in every principal nation in this war except in the United States.

There are other principles as to co-operation with the public and the trades, the methods of price-fixing, removal of labor, restraints on production, allocation of supplies, etc., in which hard-won experience has been ignored. That there is delay and confusion and enormous bureaucratic interference needs no proof. It lies all around the landscape.

There are some policies that should be determined at once by a national war council. We have two bottlenecks; one is manpower and the other is ships. In view of these bottlenecks, certain home front policies suggest themselves for immediate determination. And they need be related to global strategy itself.

For instance, to carry on a war of aggressive attrition we need give full emphasis to fighting planes. They can mostly transport themselves. We will be short of ships for another year. To transport American armies overseas requires three times the tonnage that is required to arm and support the manpower of our Allies. We are endangering the food supply to ourselves and our Allies by excessive drafts of manpower from agriculture.

It is entirely possible that a realistic reevaluation of our manpower, our bottlenecks and priorities is needed.

Enemy "Subs" Are Driven From Caribbean Area

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Hounded by an American counter-offensive, Axis submarines today have ceased their recent mass assault against strategic Caribbean shipping lanes.

The sinking of Allied ships in this area has been reduced strikingly within the past few weeks.

There was not a single attack by enemy subs during the latter part of December, indicating that the undersea raiders have found their Caribbean campaign too costly to continue.

Commenting on the withdrawal of Axis subs, Rear Admiral J. B. Oldendorf, temporarily in command of the Caribbean Sea frontier, said:

"We do not consider the submarine menace completely eliminated yet. To the time being, at least—have retired from the Caribbean area. We hope to keep them away."

CONCERT CONTINUES IN PERIOD OF "BLACK-OUT"

Hilde Somer Delights With Many Difficult and Pleasing Piano Numbers

COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

Members of Bristol Co-operative Concert Association spent the "black-out" period of last evening in the most enjoyable manner they have yet experienced.

As the lights of Bristol high school auditorium were of necessity dimmed when the test "black-out" occurred at 9:30, Hilde Somer, the artist of the evening, continued her delightful program of piano music.

With the signal received at the time of intermission, the large auditorium lights were turned off, but with a few small lights remaining on the platform for the benefit of the youthful musician. Soft lights cast a glow over the instrument and rested on the fair face of the performer.

The Viennese-born prodigy was generous with her encores, and the 80% of the holders of membership cards who were enabled to reach the concert hall in spite of gasoline rationing, thoroughly enjoyed the presentation of excellently-rendered selections from her repertoire.

The scheduled numbers included:

Part I: Two sonatas by Domenico Scarlatti, G major and D major; Sonata in A major, Opus 129.

Part II: Nocturne in F sharp major (Chopin); two études, Op. 25, E minor, D flat major (Chopin); Polonaise in A flat (Chopin).

Part III: Two preludes by Gershwin; "Dance of the Red Cape" (Guarini); "Seguidilla" (Albeniz).

Part IV: Two preludes by Debussy; waltzes from "Die Fledermaus" (Strauss-Gruenfeld).

Board Makes 11th Hour Attempt To Settle Strike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The War Labor Board made an 11th-hour attempt today to settle the strike of miners in the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania in a desperate hope to prevent use of army troops to reopen struck mines.

While Congress clamored for drastic action, the Labor Board called before it John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, the heads of 22 union locals conducting the outlaw strike, and representatives of five major coal companies whose mines have been closed.

Lewis, deeply troubled, carried with him reports showing that only 9,500 of the 90,000 miners in the anthracite fields were on strike. This was in contrast to unofficial estimates by the Labor Board that 18,000 were idle.

It was learned that Lewis, as long ago as January 4th, appealed to the hard coal miners not to strike in their demands for a $2-a-day wage increase. At that time, Lewis sent letters to be posted in all union halls in the hard coal fields calling for settlement of the miners' wage demands in "an orderly manner" so that victory can be had, not only on the battlefronts of the world, but on the production front of our mines and factories.

Morrisville Residents Seek Change in Route of Bus

MORRISVILLE, Jan. 15.—When borough council met this week Secretary Howell announced that a petition had been received from a worried mother asking council check with the Richmond Bus Lines as to the possibility of running buses over the lower bridge.

Chief of Police Albert Cooper turned in his monthly report showing a total of 29 arrests, with three accidents investigated and one robbery reported.

BUCKS COUNTIANS AID IN 'ROUTING' INVADING 'ENEMY'

'Black-Out' Test Last Evening Ends Hours of Defense 'Maneuvers'

A TEST OF SYSTEM

Highway Patrolmen On Duty 12 Hours; 'Incidents' Are Staged

The "black-out" test of last evening, which took place in connection with Pennsylvania's make-believe invasion by "enemy" planes, came as no surprise to residents of Bristol and Bucks County in general.

Officials throughout the county state that many calls were received at their quarters, from individuals asking at just what time the "blackout" test would occur.

The "black-out" signal at 9:30 and the all-clear at 10 o'clock practically ended an afternoon and evening series of defense maneuvers throughout the state, in which state police, civilian defense agencies and the U. S. Army troops were called into action.

In this and many parts of the state war plants were "black-out" for the five minutes required by the Third Service Command.

Colonel Churchill Williams, in a statement issued this morning stated that Bucks Countians carried out in a commendable manner their part in incidents pertaining to the test invasion, with 100 per cent of the county control officials on duty, and 95 per cent of the area control officials answering the alarm. "General services" were covered practically 100 per cent," he stated.

The maneuver was designed to test the state's defense system. Starting at 12 o'clock noon yesterday there was possibility of it being continued until this afternoon, but at 10:32 last evening Pennsylvania Motor Police at Doylestown sub-station, received a teletype message to the effect that the test mobilization had been completed. Orders were given to notify the area control centers, with all personnel being dismissed for the night. The "all-clear" for maneuvers in Bucks County came at 11 o'clock, when the populace was assured the "enemy" planes had been routed, all "evacuuees" cared for, and everything pertaining to the "invasion" was under control.

The Lobbies Split

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. IT MAY be the war or it may be the war management, or it may be the increasing clarity with which the unwholesomeness of the New Deal policies of labor favoritism and unrestricted spending are being seen. But, certainly, some of what have heretofore been considered Administration groups are taking some unique stands these days.

FOR EXAMPLE, last week we had an independent labor union—the National Federation of Federal Employees—indicating the Federal Government for lack of economy in administration and the employment of too many useless persons. And within forty-eight hours this was sembled professional leaders of the large farm organizations that "the rights, privileges and earnings of industrial labor be curbed." In addition, they adopted a program calling for an extension of the forty-hour week to fifty-four hours and a termination of "all tributes" now being exacted as a requisite for employment, such as union membership and initiation fees.

THE FARM organizations joining in this declaration were said to represent ninety per cent. of the nation's food raisers. In effect, this means that the farmers of the country have taken an open position against both the forty-hour week and the closed shop—the two White House policies so deeply cherished that even in this war period all efforts to relax them in the interests of production have been resisted. It does seem that neither of these extraordinary developments have had the public attention they deserve. In the past it has been the critics of the Administration—chief among them Senator Byrd—who have insisted that the Federal pay rolls were swollen with thousands of useless jobholders. It has been the President who insisted that this was not so; that the charge was unfounded and those who made it were "malicious critics." But, here the charge is reiterated by representatives of some 75,000 of these Federal employees, themselves, made in their official publication and signed by their chosen leaders. In other words, the charge is now made by the men who are in the best possible position to have the facts and whose motives cannot be questioned. If they do not know the truth, then no one knows it. It is difficult to think of any reason for them not to tell the truth.

THIS, it is submitted, is about as complete vindication and support for those, in Congress and out, who have been fighting against Governmental waste and padded pay rolls as could be imagined. It seems to prove their case to the hilt and leave no excuse for failure to correct a concededly bad situation. But, the attitude of the farm leaders is even more significant from the political standpoint. It will be recalled that in the 1936 campaign the basic political strategy of the New Deal was to form a voting alliance between the farmers and the industrial laborers which would dominate the nation politically and relegate industry and business to the rear.

IT WAS Dr. Rexford G. Tugwell, then one of the Roosevelt brain trust, who took the lead in enunciating this interesting Administration doctrine. In an eloquent speech in Los Angeles, Dr. Tugwell stressed the necessity, from his angle, of this farmer-laborer alliance and the idea was taken up and elaborated by various other New Deal spokesmen. While no formal alliance such as Dr. Tugwell favored was formed, it is true that in 1936 Mr. Roosevelt received the bulk of the votes of these two groups. In 1940, too, though in a diminished degree so far as the farmers were concerned, he was still their favorite.

IT WAS NOT until last November that the farmers seemed to shake off the hypnotic influence of the New Deal and regain their political reasoning powers. Certainly it is true that the largest Republican gains in the last election were made in the agricultural States. The present clash on legislative program between the labor leaders and the farm leaders opens up interesting possibilities for the new Congress. In the past, the farm and labor lobbies, working together and both with Administration support, have been irresistible. Congress simply has been unable to stand up against their combined weight.

IN THIS session, with the lobbies divided and the Administration supporting only the labor program, there is a chance for Congress to reassert its independence and act in these matters for the good of the nation as a whole instead of for the benefit of special groups at the expense of the rest of us. The public danger, of course, is that, realizing this, the farm and labor lobbies will make a deal and again put combined pressure on Congress for their joint programs.

IF THAT happens and Congress yields, the effect upon the war effort will be bad. If the farmers succeed in bursting the price ceilings on food products, the whole price level will be raised and the trend toward inflation greatly accelerated. That is the President's sound reason for opposition. On the labor side, if Congress permits the forty-hour week and the closed shop to be privileged upon us, then all hope for a sensible solution of the economic shortages will disappear. There are two things to hope—first, that the two lobbies do not get together; second, that if they do, the new Congress will develop a sufficient degree of strength to resist their demands.

What You Buy With WAR STAMPS

When the American Expeditionary Force landed in Ireland recently newspapers reported the citizenry remarked at the similarity of the steel helmets worn by our boys with those worn by German troops. These steel hats are protection from shrapnel fragments and other light missiles. We need thousands of them for they are a regular issue to every American soldier.

A smart strap fastens under the chin and they are padded for comfort. One steel helmet costs $5 so every time you fill a $5 stamp book you are buying protection for an American soldier. The Schools at War program will show you how to do your bit for our armed forces through the regular purchase of War Savings Stamps.

rad wardens played their part during the test "black-out"; as did all other agencies connected with the defense system here.

Among the "incidents" scheduled was the "bombing" of a war plant here, and of an important power station at Emille. "Sabotage acts" were also "scheduled" at various aircraft plants, including one in nearby Montgomery County. In some instances throughout Bucks County fire companies were summoned to extinguish "fires."

Residents of communities along the Delaware River in New Jersey co-operated in "evacuation" of Pennsylvanians.

Nine Penna. Motor Police from South Langhorne barracks were assigned to duty on various highways from noon until midnight. They stopped all "alleged suspicious" cars and trucks, inquired as to destinations, cargoes, etc. Names and addresses of drivers and the hour they were halted were made note of by the officers during the "check-up."

would result in temporary release of soldiers already trained into producing food, ships and planes or alternatively, in the import of Mexican labor for our farms and the lengthening of the work week in our shops. A realistic reevaluation of our whole economic home front would re-enforce some conclusions as to military strategy which I suggest in my next article.

We must admit that so far our spiritual front in this war is not as united as it was in the last war. The weakness today is not complacency or apathy. There is a great deal of bewilderment and confusion of purposes.

This is contributed to by the confusion in administration; by criticism of the divergent ideological purposes of our Allies; by the lack of confidence in the news of the war; by tiresome repetition of radio propaganda; by exceeding powers granted by the Congress and by the widespread conviction that the purposes of our Administration are not alone to win the war, but to use the war to change fundamentals of American life without submission to the people or their representatives.

Despite all this, the American people are united upon the defense of America from attack and are grimly determined to defeat the Germans and Japanese. I believe they are united upon securing lasting peace this time even if they have to use airplanes to garrison it. No enemy need believe because we exercise our blessed right to debate, discuss and differ between ourselves, that we are not united upon his defeat.

On the military front we have magnificently courageous sons. We can have every confidence in our generals and admirals. Men and officers alike

We have the biggest, most industrial equipment and financial initiative created in the mile of private enterprise. It is equal to any skilled workmen and farmers. Figures in administration interfere themselves in delay of the war; in unnecessary hardship on civilians; and increased problems after the war. But we will win the war.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)
Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O God of Love, look with pity upon all who are in need or trouble, and come and help them. Strengthen the weak, succor those who are tempted, lift up the fallen, lighten the darkness of them that doubt, give patience to all who suffer, and to them who are disheartened give courage and a new interest in life. There are so many who need thee. Their needs are so many and so varied. Help us, O God, to help them discover the wideness of thy mercy. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

GRAND THEATRE

Combining the talents of dynamic Van Heflin and singing starlet Kathryn Grayson, "Seven Sweethearts," which opens today at the Grand Theatre, provides young romance and beauty aplenty in one of the season's brightest offerings.

Heflin, as a cocky reporter who bumps into love while covering a tulip festival in Little Delft, Michigan, fulfills the promise he showed in "Johnny Eager" and "Kid Glove Killer."

Kathryn Grayson is engaging as his sweetheart, the youngest of seven daughters who manage a hotel for their eccentric Dutch father.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy are generally considered the greatest pantomimists in film history, second only to the great Chaplain. And unlike comedians who depend more on the spoken line than on their innate humor, Stan and Ollie are as much appreciated in Europe as in the United States.

WHITE SOX ARE "TOPS" IN THE WAR LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(INS)—Chicago's White Sox have more players in the armed service than any other American League team, statistics from the circuit's service bureau reveal.

Latest tabulations show that Jimmy Dykes' club has 18 in service. The list shows the following from the other clubs: Philadelphia, 16; Washington, 15; Cleveland, 13; Detroit, 11; St. Louis, 10; Boston, 10; and New York, seven.

When the first world war ended 24 years ago, the American League had a total of 144 players in uniforms of the armed service. Through December 9 the loop has 101 players in service, with many others slated to enter during the remainder of the winter.

Of the 101, a total of 37 infielders are absent with leave from their teams. Pitchers are next with 32, with 21 outfielders in the list and 11 catchers.

While the branch of service was temporarily uncertified for a few on the list, the Army had drawn the bulk of the circuit's representation—the Army total being approximately 55. Of the remainder, some 39 were serving with the Navy and seven with the Coast Guard.

A handsome service plaque has been installed in the office of the American League by President Will Harridge.

In it will hand the gold-lettered name of American Leaguers in uniform. On the plaque now is one gold star. It is opposite the name of Gene Stack, young Chicago White Sox rookie pitcher, who died early last summer. Stack, who had been stationed at Fort Custer, Michigan, was the first major leaguer to answer the draft call.

B. H. S. Basketeers Lose To Mt. Airy Quintet

MT. AIRY, Jan. 15.—The B. H. S. High School suffered its first defeat of the season here yesterday afternoon when beaten 33-29 by the Pennsylvania School for Deaf. The game was fast and interesting from the start.

Paul Ruby again topped the Bristol scorers although he was aided by the fine passing of Kenny Maag. The guards on the Bristol team were outstanding while the forwards were off form and missed many shots.

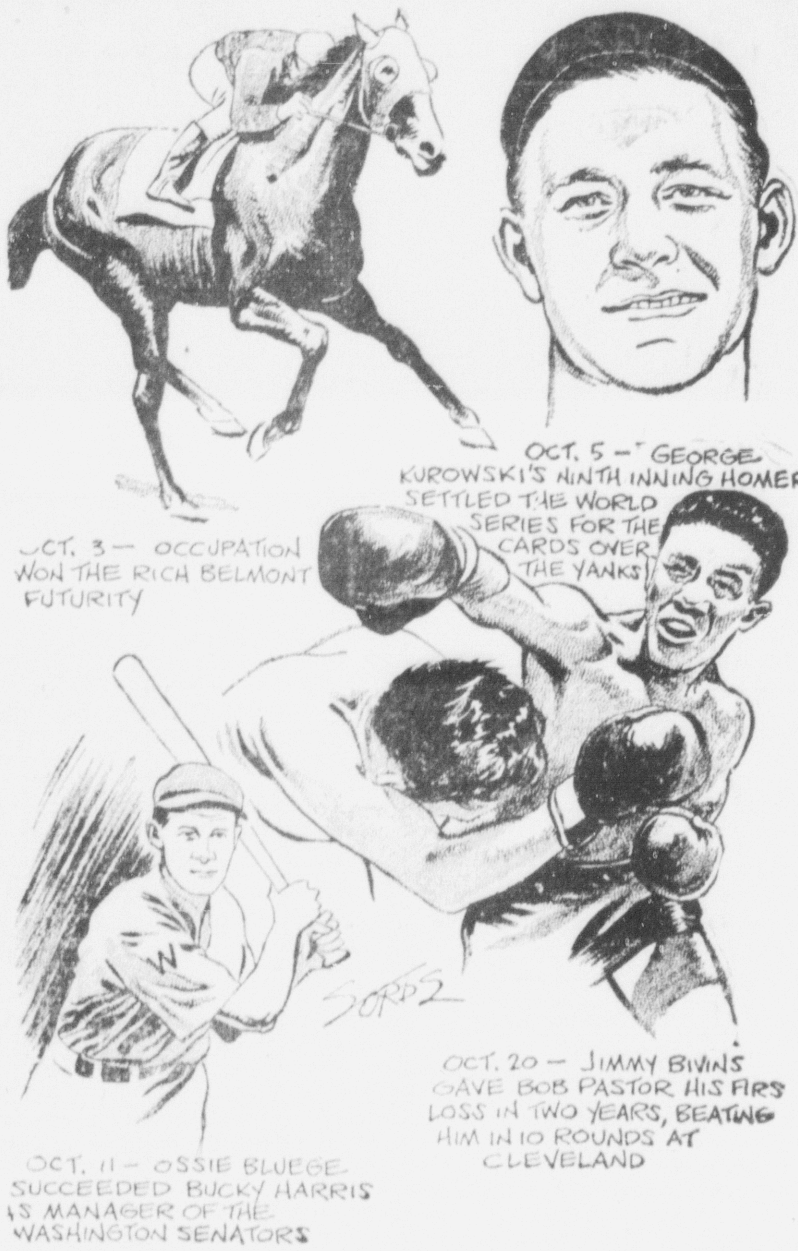

It was the first victory of the season for P. S. D. who had lost five straight games.

REVIEW OF YEAR IN SPORTS

by JACK SORDS

SPORTS PARADE

by EDWARD W. COCHRANE

Some bright gent among the sixteen major league club owners suggested at the meeting in Chicago that all players in leagues not operating until the war is over be frozen, just as the territory is being frozen. In other words they were going to tell the players they could not play baseball until after the war and then would have to report to their respective clubs.

When Judge K. M. Landis, the very efficient commissioner, heard of this he howled, "Just how long do you think that would hold in court? That's a very silly suggestion. You can freeze baseball territory because we control baseball, but you can't tell any man out of work that he can't go to work until the war is over." The matter was dropped pronto.

In spite of finishing so high the Kansas City club did not draw 125,000 paid admissions last year. Must have gone into the red ink for quite a sum. Maybe the Yanks eventually will be sorry they took on that farm. Ernie Quigley, National League supervisor of umpires, has sold his hog ranch in Kansas. The majors also found they could not make the minor leagues hold the sack for investments in men who are in the service of Uncle Sam. So they decided that if such men are bought from the minors by the majors, the chases are made and take their own chances on the players reporting after the war. This will stop a lot of sales. The majors would rather pay when the men report.

Baseball to Help Uncle Sam
ODT Director Joe Eastman's letter had quite an effect on the major league owners. He asked that they do their best to help the transportation problem. They therefore are arranging the schedule so as to save every mile possible and they also will cut out extra mileage on training schedules. Which means that a lot of small league towns will not be visited by major league teams next spring. The Big Ten took a hint and cut some 50 per cent of the mileage of their bas-kethall schedule. Football will have to cut down plenty next year. There won't be any more intersectional games.

One good story went the rounds at the major league meetings. Some years ago Benny Myer, then with Brooklyn, wrote Charley Ebbets that he was going to quit baseball and operate his farm at Festus, Mo. Ebbets decided he would go down to the farm to see Myer and try to induce him to change his mind. What Myer wanted was a substantial raise and he was running a bluff as his farm amounted to very little and he did not do much operating. The word got to Myer that Ebbets was on his way down.

Myer Got His Raise
When Ebbets arrived he saw about 30 milk cows, 2,000 chickens, some beef cattle, twenty horses and a lot of sheep on the place and more activity than he had ever seen on a farm. Myer was very busy ordering a bunch of men around. Ebbets decided Myer had an extensive operation. When Benny could find time to talk to his baseball boss, he told him he was needed on the farm and could make more money there than in baseball. After some argument they agreed on a contract, which Myer signed and it contained a substantial raise in salary.

After Myer was sure that Ebbets was well on his way back to Brooklyn, the neighbors, who had posed as Myer's hired men, gathered up all their stock and took it back home, along with a lot of thanks from Benny for performing a very neighborly act.

Bill Werber has quit the Giants for good. Johnny Baezley has decided not to quit baseball. He'll be back after the war. Billy Herman, Brooklyn second baseman, who has had a managerial bee buzzing in his bonnet for a long time, believes he will get the Brooklyn job if Leo Durocher doesn't walk the chalk line as drawn by Branch Rickey and many believe Leo the Lip will never be happy following rules laid down by his new boss. If he breaks them he will get ten days notice.

Pep Not a Great Champ
Solly Krieger, former middleweight champion, says his eye trouble has been traced to a tubercular cow and is not the result of having thumbs stuck in his eyes while boxing.

Willie Pep, the first featherweight champion ever to win the title without having lost a decision, fighting a draw, winning or losing on a foul or boxing a no-decision contest, is not a great fighter. He has a good left hand, but he is not a hard puncher, and not in the class with men like Abe Attell, Terry McGovern, Johnny Kilbane and some more of the great featherweights who made that division popular many years ago. . . . Cheerio.
